RE: Lee County Sheriff's Office Firearms Training Facility

To Whom It May Concern:

The successful and timely completion of this facility has dramatically improved our tactical training capabilities. TKW played a key role in making this objective a reality through the firm's outstanding engineering and commitment to the project.

The nearly 40,000 square foot training facility and hangar play an important public safety role in our community, since the complex was also designed to serve as a hurricane shelter for County aircraft. In fulfilling this dual capacity, the building provides much needed firing lanes and classrooms for ongoing training, while ensuring protection at the current high standards for hardened facilities.

The project was complex and high profile, and TKW met the challenge with total professionalism, quality of service and responsiveness. I strongly recommend the firm for any project and, in particular, for projects in the public safety sector.

Proud to Serve,
